Summer Research Assistant

Alberta Finance and Enterprise, Edmonton - Is estimating your personal revenues a challenge? Imagine doing it for the whole province! Join us at Alberta Finance and Enterprise where you will have the opportunity to become involved in unique work.

Alberta Finance and Enterprise's Economics and Statistics group is responsible for providing economic and revenue forecasts to the Alberta Government. The group develops and disseminates Alberta's social and economic statistics and presents the Alberta position on federal and provincial fiscal issues to the federal Government and other provinces.

As the Summer Research Assistant with the Economics and Statistics group, your primary responsibilities will be to assist in the building of a new corporate income tax revenue forecasting model, as well as the planning of an inter-governmental budget conference. You will prepare weekly and monthly reports on current economic developments and labour force statistics, and will participate in a variety of research projects related to revenue forecasting. A strong capacity for independent economic research and analysis and excellent communication skills, both verbal and written, are required.

Qualifications: Students who have completed at least three years of an undergraduate Economics program and plan on pursuing further economic studies will be considered. Computer proficiency in Excel and economic analysis software is required. Relevant research experience and some knowledge of the corporate income tax system would be valuable assets.

To be eligible for Alberta Finance and Enterprise's 2009 Summer Opportunities, you must be returning to full-time studies at a recognized post-secondary program in September 2009.

NOTE: Final Candidates for this position will be asked to undergo a security screening. This position is a full-time, temporary summer opportunity from May 2009 to August 2009.
